India Rubber Goods.

SPRING TRADE, 1854.

D. HODGMAN, 27 Maiden Lane and 59 Nassau Street, invites the attention of his former customers and merchants generally, particularly Wholesale Buyers, to his immense stock of India Rubber Goods, which he has now on hand and is daily receiving from his Factories, including

COATS, CAPES, GLOVES, PANTS, OVERALLS, LEGGINGS, CAPS, KEEPING JACKETS, LIFE PRESERVERS, WHIPS, CARRIAGE CLOTH, PEARL COVERS, MACHINE BELTING, ENGINE PACKING, CRUTCH HOSE,

And every description of Rubber Goods manufactured.

The reputation of my Goods, for their excellent quality is so well established as to render any further commendation entirely superfluous. It affords me great pleasure to inform Wholesale buyers of

Rubber Clothing,

That I am enabled to offer them inducements in purchasing superior to what I have heretofore, and I firmly believe superior to any that have been offered them elsewhere.

Orders respectfully solicited and attended to with promptness and despatch by

D. HODGMAN,

27 Maiden Lane & 59 Nassau Street, New York.

Choice Fruit Trees.

FOR SALE at my NURSERY on Centre Street, a choice lot of FRUIT TREES, most of the stock consisting of Apple Trees, grown in this climate, and of best varieties of Apples which have proved adapted to this climate.

Also, a quantity of HORSE CHESNUT and WEEPING WILLOW Trees.

As the Central Street Nursery must be cleared this present spring, for the purpose of appropriating the land to other uses, a fine opportunity is offered, particularly to those who wish a quantity of small trees, as well as standards, and in order to clear the land the Trees will be sold in quantities at low prices, if early application be made.

☞ Those wishing for single trees can be accommodated with almost any variety, from this or the Nurseries of N. Hanlow, Esq., in the immediate vicinity. SAMUEL HARLOW.

Admirable Invention!

PATENT SELF HEATING

SMOOTHING IRON!

MANY important improvements have been made since the beginning of the present century, relieving and facilitating the labor of men by machinery and other modern implements, but females have been very neglected until the introduction of the Patent Self Heating Smoothing Iron, which will relieve them, to a very great degree, from the excessive and fatiguing labor of ironing, but also being a great saving of time and expense. This iron combines economy, convenience, saving of labor, and depriving one cent's worth of dry shavings enough for a whole day's constant ironing. Hard wood is all from the stove will answer the same purpose. It can be used in any room or in the open air. Pattern and Table Irons are constructed upon the same principle, and prove a equal superiority.

Dr. Langley's Root and Herb

BITTERS.

A COMPOUND of Sarsaparilla, Yellow Dock, Prickly Ash, Dandelion, Thoroughwort, Wild Cherry, Mandrake, and Rhubarb. Just the Medicine for Ladies; sure to do them good.

SPRING HAS COME.

Read, consider, reflect! and now that after being shut up or confined in factories or workshops all winter the Liver becomes inactive and unhealthy, thus filling the blood with vitiated humors producing Jaundice, Weakness, Loss of Appetite, Dyspepsia, Headache, Costiveness, Indigestion, Foul Stomach, Piles, Languor, and General Debility. Now then, if you wish to remove all these, together with humors in the Blood and Skin take Dr. Langley's Root and Herb Bitters—at least one or two bottles. They always do good and never hurt. Let each and every man, woman and child have a bottle at only 25 cents for a half pint, 37½ cents for a quart bottle.

Now Nature, herself, a sure remedy brings,
Which cleanses the current of life at its springs,
From fearful Disease that bear to the grave,
Langley's Root and Herb Bitters unfailingly save.

There's scarcely a dangerous disease we can name,
In which the Root and Herb Bitters have not at stake,
Some,
And as safe in their action, they cannot do harm,
While they strengthen the system and act like a charm.
Are you Temperance folks—when no medicine is used
No drink alcoholic is by it infused,
Nor need the fond mother for anxious alarm,
To the tenderest infant it cannot do harm.

Is your Liver disordered? Bitters cure your fear
Thus Langley will deal both the moapers a blow;
Do you suffer from Headache—'tis I give you relief;
For Pain—is of all cures acknowledged the chief;
The motto of "Buy me and Try do you good,"
The test of experience has stubbly stood—
And many unto it their truth will appeal,
That the Root and Herb Bitters is every man's Friend.

Is your Appetite gone, then the Root Bitters take
And you'll soon truly relish your chop or your steak;
The Blood is well purify—health fives you relief;
And strengthen your frame should it ever grow weak,
The Ladies declare no such Remedy known;
And the sale is increasing to the Fair Sex alone!
No wonder, the Bitters make Languor to fly;
Brings into the cheeks the blooms to the lip, new fire to the eye!

Sold in Bangor, wholesale and retail, by Ingraham & Fuller, Guild & Harlow, and by all Druggists and dealers in Medicine in Bangor, Orono, Oldtown, Stillwater, Hampden, Frankfort, and Bucksport, at 25 cents a pint and 37½ cents for a quart bottle

Poetry and Literature.

Original Poetry.

A Prayer for the Loved One.

By O. A. S. B.

[Written on the death of an amiable and accomplished lady, who left her home in New England, to meet her husband in California, but dying unnamed on the passage, died in a few days after her arrival.]

A prayer on the ocean!
Out, out on the sea!
Where the wild winds and tempests
Roam fearless and free!
Where the great billows swell,
And the mighty waves rolling
Bear a shadow dark pall
Where the ship's streaming sail!

A prayer on the ocean!—
The fair and the free!
She breasts not the tempest,
She fears not the gale;
For the light of her spirit,
The hope in her breast,
Have robbed the dread night
Of its fearful unrest!

A prayer! hope is gone,
All hitherto in vain!
The deep sorrow drop
Bewing light on her cheek?
The light so fair eye
Growing darker each day—
Hasten, hasten, hasten skip!
O'er the billows away!

The night is waning fast;—
A dark hand is outspread;
The pillow is rested,
Where rests the loved head!
The crowed palm quickens,
The heartbroken mere fair—
Away—O, away,
To the waiting one there!

Bereaved hearts left behind!
Yet only awhile—but a while!
No grief to dim your eyes,
From our late dark exile—
The family are once grouped,
In joy one and embrace,
No "missing" of joy,
No fond lineage shall trace.

Oh—when the spirit
Awakes! Jesus,
When the light is not darkened,
By dust of the loved tome
Of that which shines and secures,
On pinions a wing,
To the heart of the wand'rer
Sweet sunbeams bring!

O, haste! Bid a prayer move
As may be, be loved strain—
May rank high in the daytime
Of those kind eyes again!
May pillow that head
On that bosom of love
Ere tears are saint soon
To its sanctum above.

A prayer for the dying!
Dread conqueror! stay—
Let it be know, upraised,
Still a moment delay!
Spare the life of the loved one,
Above in bliss soon
Not yet—O, not yet,
Strike the merciless blow!

Ah! hearts—still hearts!
And now, in his heart,
Let the fair form repose—
Let the weary one rest!
Untying death!
Let thine arrows fly
Around, around, around,
A moment like this!

Is gone! kind sex closely,
Then carry my one!
The last sight is branded,
And they lost not is done!
Love cannot relate her—
The grief cannot stay
The angel has taken
Her spirit away!

And, tenderly laid them
Down to its own place,
The cold, lone as roses,
Around the cold face!—
The kind Mary can leave not
Upon a cold clay,
Press her down to "Great City,"
Away—far away!

All alone, lay tenderly
Beneath the pale moon!
There's enough in each heart,
Dying hope—gone broken!
Then stand out, while kneeling
Upon the sage sod,
Then blessed thy heavy
Chosen treasure to God!

RECOLLECTIONS OF A POLICEMAN.

"I was hastily sent for; and when I arrived Sir Thomas was still fully conscious. He imparted to me matters of great moment, to which he requested I would direct, after his decease, my best care and attention. His son I was aware, had but just returned from a tour on the continent, where he had been absent for nearly twelve months; but I was not aware that Mr. Archibald Redwood had not only secretly espoused a Miss Ashton, of a reduced family, but belonging to our best gentry, but actually returned home, not solely for the purpose of soliciting Sir Thomas's forgiveness of his rash espousals, but that the probable heir of Redwood might be born within the walls of the ancient house. After the first burst of passion and surprise, Sir Thomas, one of the best-hearted men in the universe, cordially forgave his son's disobedience; partly, and quite rightly, imputing it to his own foolish urgency in pressing a union with one of the Lady family, with which the baronet was very intimate, and whose estate adjoined his.

"Well, this lady, now a widow, had been left by her husband at Chester, while he came on to seek an explanation with his father. Mr. Archibald Redwood was to have set out the next morning in one of Sir Thomas's carriages to bring home his wife; and the baronet with his dying breath bade me assure her of his entire forgiveness, and his earnest trust that through her offspring the race of Redwoods might be continued in a direct line. The family estates, I should tell you, being strictly entailed on heirs male, devolved, if no son of Mr. Archibald Redwood should bar his claim, upon Charles Malvern, the son of a cousin of the late Thomas Redwood. The baronet had always felt partial toward Malvern, and had amassed him pecuniarily a hundred times. Sir Thomas also directed me to draw as quickly as I could a short will, bequeathing Mr. Charles Malvern twenty thousand pounds out of his personals. I wrote as expeditiously as I could, but by the time the papers were ready for signature, Sir Thomas was no longer conscious. I placed the pen in his hand, and I fancied he understood the purpose; for his fingers closed firmly upon it; but the power to guide was utterly gone, and only a slight scrambling stroke marked the paper as the pen slid across it towards the falling arm.

Mr. Malvern arrived at the house about an hour after Sir Thomas breathed his last; it was clearly apparent, though all his sorrow, fairly assumed, that joy of riches, splendor, station, was dancing at his heart, and spite of all his efforts to conceal it, sparkling in his eye. I briefly, but gently as I could, acquainted him with the true position of affairs. The revelation of feeling which ensued entirely unmanned him, and it was not until an hour after words that he recovered his self-possession sufficiently to converse reasonably and coolly upon his position. Albert he became apparently reconciled to the sudden overclouding of his imaginatively brilliant prospects, and it was agreed as he was a relative of the widow, he should break the news to her. Well, a few days after his departure, I received a letter from him, stating that Lady Redwood—I don't think, by the way, that as her husband died before succeeding to the baronetcy, she is entitled to that appellation of honor—we however, call her so out of courtesy—that Lady Redwood, through prematurely confined in consequence of the intelligence of her husband's untimely death, had given birth to a female child, and both mother and daughter were as well as might be expected. This, you will agree, seemed perfectly satisfactory?"

"Entirely so."

"I thought. Mr. Malvern was now undoubtedly, whether Sir Charles Malvern or not, the proprietor of Redwood estate, burthened as with a charge, in accordance with the conditions of the entail, of a thousand pounds sterling to the late Mr. Redwood's infant daughter."

"Sir Charles returned to the Redwood manor house, where his wife and family shortly afterwards arrived. Lady Redwood had been joined, I understood, by her mother, Mrs. Ashton, and would, when able to undertake the journey, return to her maternal home. It was about two months after Sir Thomas Redwood's death, that I determined to pay Lady Redwood a visit, in order to the winding up of the personal estate, which it was desirable to accomplish as speedily as possible; and then a new and terrible light flashed upon me."

"What in heaven's name!" I exclaimed, for the last time breaking silence—"what could there come to reveal?"

"Only," rejoined Mr. Repton, "that ill, delirious, as Lady Redwood admitted herself to have been, it was her intimate, unconquerable conviction that she had given birth to twins!"

"And God! And you suspect?"

"I do not know what to suspect. Should the lady's confident belief be correct, the missing child might have been a boy. You understand?"

"I do. But is there any tangible evidence, indeed, to justify this horrible suspicion?"

"Yes; the surgeon-apothecary and his wife, a Mr. and Mrs. Williams, who attended Lady Redwood, have suddenly disappeared from Chester, and, from an explainable motive, having left or abandoned a fair business there."

"That has certainly an ugly look."

"True; and a few days ago I received information that Williams had been seen in Birmingham. He was well dressed, and not apparently in any business."

"There certainly appears some ground for suspicion. What plan of operations do you propose?"

"That" replied Mr. Repton, "I must leave to your more practical sagacity. I can only undertake that no means shall be lacking that may be required."

"I will be better, perhaps," I suggested after an interval of reflection, "that I should proceed to Birmingham at once. You have of course an accurate description of the persons of Williams and his wife ready?"

"I have; and very accurate pen-and-ink sketches I am told they are. Besides those, I have also here," continued Mr. Repton, taking from his pocket-book a sheet of carefully folded satin paper, "a full description of the female baby, drawn up by its mother, under the impression that twins always, (I believe they generally do,) resemble each other. Light hair, blue eyes, dimpled chin, and so on. The lady, a very charming person, I assure you, and meek and gentle as a fawn, is chiefly anxious to recover her child. You and I, should our suspicions be confirmed, have other duties to perform."

This was pretty nearly all that passed, and the next day I was in Birmingham.

The search, as I was compelled to be cautious in my inquiries, was tedious, but finally successful. Mr. and Mrs. Williams I discovered living in a pretty house, with neat grounds attached, about two miles from Birmingham on the coach-road to Wolverhampton. Their assumed name was Burridge, as I ascertained from a servant-girl, who fetched their dinner, supper and beer, from a neighbouring tap-room; and they had one child, a few months old, of whom its her nor another seemed very fond. By dint of much perseverance, I at length got upon pretty familiar terms with Mr. Burridge, alias Williams. He spent his evenings regularly at the tavern, but with all the patient taking, indefatigable ingenuity I employed, the sum of knowledge I acquired, during three weeks, was that my friend Burridge intended, incontinently after a visit which he expected to receive from a rich relative in London, to emigrate to America—at all events, to go abroad. This was, however, precious information; and very rarely indeed was he, after I had obtained it, out of my sight or observation. At length perseverance obtained its reward. One morning I discovered my friend, much more spruce attired than usual, make his way to the railway station, and there question with eager looks every passenger that alighted from the first-class carriages. At last a gentleman, whom I instantly recognized, in spite of his shawl and other wrappings, arrived by the express train from London. Williams instantly accosted him; a cab was called, and away they drove. I followed in another, and saw them both alight at a school in New Street. I also alighted, and, as mentally debating how to proceed, when Williams came out, and proceeded in the direction of his home. I followed, overtook him, and soon contrived to ascertain that he and his wife had important business at Birmingham the next morning, which would render it impossible he should meet me as I proposed till two or three o'clock in the afternoon, and the next morning, my esteemed friend informed me, they would leave the place, probably forever.

WHAT SPAIN WILL DO. The late Spanish Minister informed Mr. Clayton, the Secretary of State, that it was the determination of the Spanish government to emancipate the slaves in Cuba, whenever any attempt is made by the U. States to take forcible possession of the island. We have no doubt the Spaniard will be as good as his word—and that our slavery annexationists will then find it a harder job to reduce the slaves than President Pierce will have in reducing the island.

The Mobile Register fears that slavery will be abolished in Cuba before we shall have effected the conquest of the island; and it foresees some little difficulty in again reducing the negroes to a state of slavery after that event.—It says:

"This much is certain—if we postpone the conquest until after a proclamation of emancipation, the re-establishment of slavery in the island will be a most difficult if not an impossible achievement. Congress may not incorporate to restore the status quo, and the indirect provisions may prevent the revival of the colonial law. Hence, the timely and energetic action of the government, or its criminal apathy, must determine whether the acquisition of Cuba is to be a blessing or a curse to the South."

In relation to the school troubles at Winchester, Mass., alluded to the other day, subsequent accounts show the facts to have been somewhat misstated. The committee did not exclude the bible from the schools, as represented; but simply changed the mode of its use.—It seems that, some weeks previously, a petition was presented to the committee from a part of the Roman Catholic parents asking that their children might be allowed to use the Catholic version of the scriptures, or not be compelled to read in their turn. This was refused, on the ground partly that a dangerous principle would thus be recognized, which might be extended to some book constituting part of the established system of intellectual education. They proposed, however, as an alternative, that the teacher should read some select portion of the scriptures himself, and that all the pupils should be required to attend at the reading.—This was accepted by the petitioners, and thus the matter was settled. It is important, that the children in this country, of all nations and religious denominations, should mingle together in the public schools, that thus, when they grow up the whole mass may be assimilated together, as American citizens in thought and feeling. To this end, we hope to see all disputes of this kind disposed of in an amicable manner. A spirit of overweening, however, upon time-hallowed and salutary usages, ought not to be yielded to inconsiderately—for one concession is apt to make way only for another demand.

The first Chinese newspaper ever printed in America, has just been started in California.—We are indebted to Mr. Charles P. Kimball, (proprietor of Nosy Gasner's Hall, San Francisco) for a copy. His paper is text in title is the "Golden Hill News"—a fact that we should be some time in ascertaining from the paper itself. It is about the size of a cap sheet, and a curious looking affair generally. It begins at the end, and leaves off at the beginning, and the lines run down, instead of from left to right. If any one wishes to read the latest news in Chinese he can have the privilege by calling at our office.

The following notice by a San Francisco paper gives a very fair description of the sheet:

"The News presents a very fair typographical appearance for Chinese; that is to say, it looks as if a spider out of an ink-bottle had crawled over a sheet of white paper. We are not very familiar with the Chinese characters, but from appearance we should judge that the editorial of the editor was particularly elegant. It abounds in a number of hieroglyphics that strongly resemble centipedes, with an occasional dash of tarantulas. The Chinese population of California numbers at least 25,000, and they nearly all know how to read.

Important Reduction in rates of Fare to California.—It will be seen by a reference to C. L. Bartlett's advertisement in to-day's paper, that the United States Mail Steamship Company have made arrangements to forward their passengers across the Isthmus, besides materially reducing the price of tickets. A passenger can now purchase a ticket of Mr. Bartlett for the very low price of $50. Persons bound to the gold regions would do well to give him a call. Mr. Bartlett is well known to the mercantile community, and his arrangements are entitled to confidence.

The Boston Slave Case.—Fuller accounts of the arrest and examination of the slave Burns, at Boston, show that he escaped from his master in Richmond Va. in March last, and came to Boston, where he has been at work for Coffin Pitts, a second hand clothing dealer in Brattle Street. He was arrested while on his way home from his shop, on Tuesday evening. It is asserted that Burns, on his arrest, told his master that he did not run away but was carried off while asleep on board a vessel and that he was willing to return. [See next page for further accounts.]

Calais Loan.—The city of Calais has voted, 401 to 72, to loan its credit to the Lewy's Island Railroad Co., in accordance with the recent act of the Legislature authorizing such loan.

The city of Chicago, according to the Daily Journal, published there, has sixty thousand inhabitants, yet the oldest native in a young lady of twenty-two.

The Spanish papers say that some of the Dukes of Constantinople are taking measures to transport their bateaux to Spain. At Cadiz and Barcelona edifices are preparing for the Moslem dames and nymphs. No windows are allowed on the street. Our Sherman friends are more liberal than this towards their wives.

Mr. Nathaniel Joslin, of Newburyport, has potatoes of the crop of 1852, in good preservation.

The Norwich disaster of last year, it is stated, will cost the Eastern Railroad Company $300,000, before they get through. Verdict—served 'em right.

An editor in Missouri says the last notes a drunken man found the capital since the Legislature adjourned.

A bachelor geologist was boasting that he knew every rock as well as the alphabet. A lady present doubted that he knew one, of which he was totally ignorant—the cradle.

We learn from the Argus that Mrs. Emery charged with poisoning her husband from a letter in a post office in Franklin county, was examined before Commissioner Rand, in Portland, on the 23d and bound over for trial at the June term of the District Court to be held in this city.

Hon. Israel Washburn passed through the city on Saturday, for his residence in Orono. The cars had to take him by the hand and say—Well done, thou good and faithful servant. Mr. W. returns to Washington in a few days.

A little girl of six years, daughter of James Carson, of Pittston, fell into a well, forty feet deep, on Tuesday last, and was rescued, without material injury, by Mr. Wm. Baldwin, who descended for that purpose.

HAY FOR THE SEASON. There are two principal causes of death in transplanting trees, neither of which is obvious to the novice.—The first is the leaving of cavities between and among the roots by not carefully filling in and carefully pressing the fine earth, and the other is from stagnant water near the roots. Indeed, there are some trees so rooted as to require care to prevent the earth passage among the roots before the tree is set; and in setting trees in hot sunny, particularly by the road side, the secret of the rough drainage and I always be attended to. By attention to these two conditions, neither starving nor unduly stimulating trees, they will rarely fail to live and thrive, for they are very tenacious of life. It is well, and important, too, that all newly set trees should be mulched. This may be done by spreading upon the surface of the soil over their roots, well-rotted manure, straw, old hay, or some thing of that sort, to keep the soil moist and porous. When trees or plants are watered, let it be done thoroughly, copiously, but not often. Do not be daily sprinkling a little water, which is soon evaporated and from which the roots derive but slight benefit.

In reference to trees that have been set for ornamental and have suffered from the late hard winter, and appear very torpid, and perhaps dead, we would advise patience and caution.—Let them remain and they may yet recover, for we have known trees to thrive that did not start until the middle of July. Give them a good mulching with fine old horse manure.

There is no time to be lost now in putting the garden in order and in getting in the seeds. The late directions for a good garden—that it shall be profitable and pleasant—are: first, have the land dry; second, rich; third, clean of weeds.

It may be deemed safe in a few days to transplant cucumber and other plants that have been forwarded. An important point of caution to be observed is that they must not crowd their plants too near together. Tomatoes should be three feet apart.

In the flower garden, where it is not fully stocked with perennial plants, it is better to plant annuals; that is, every variety by itself. Dahlias appear much better when thrown, in full masses, into a bed by themselves. So, too, of Chrysanthemums, hollyhocks, verbenas, petunias, and other flowers. It is an excellent plan to mulch flowering plants with vegetable matter, or its equivalent, although nothing gives so fine an appearance as the fine, dark brown mulch.

In making walks in a garden let them be wide, never less than two feet, and never deep, two inches should be the greatest depth.

Those who put their flower beds in order last autumn will now find many seedling plants of the kinds that needed last year, as the Chinese aster, petunia, ipecacuanha, portulacca, &c.—These plants should be thinned out and placed for blooming. The white lilies should be supported by stakes.

Flower seeds should now receive a thorough weeding, as they are now coming into bloom, and where convenient, a well rotted mulch of spent tan or vegetable muck.

The Nebraska Bill in the Senate.

WASHINGTON, May 25.

The following is the closing scene of the debate on the Nebraska Bill:

After a long discussion, Mr Clayton's amendment, depriving aliens of the right to vote, was rejected by a vote of 41 nays to 7 yeas.

Mr. Sumner commenced speaking against the Bill. By unanimous consent, he was allowed to present petitions against the Nebraska bill, including 126 remonstrances from clergymen of every Protestant denomination in New England. These latter, he said, were intended to have formed part of the mammoth memorial presented by his colleague some time since. He defended the clergy of New England for their noble conduct in publicly denouncing the bill, and protesting against its passage. The pulpit of New England would never again defend slavery from any attack made upon it.

Mr. Mason denied in behalf of the Church in the South, to say, that no clergy of the South had no connection with the clergy of New England in this meddling of political affairs for unworthy purposes.

Mr. Douglas repeated his denunciation of blasphemous sermons and sham memorials of the Clergy.

Mr. Toolbey said he had been instructed by the present Whig Abolition Legislature of Connecticut to vote against the bill, but after mature reflection he had come to the conclusion to disobey the instructions of his constituents.

The bill was ordered to be engrossed for a third reading.

Yeas—Messrs. Atchison, Badger, Benjamin, Brodhead, Brown, Butler, Cass, Clay, Dawson, Douglas, Fitzpatrick, Gwin, Hunter, Johnson, Jones of Iowa, Jones of Tenn., Mallory, Mason, Morton, Morris, Pearce, Pettit, Pratt, Rusk, Sebastian, Shields, Sidell, Stuart Thompson of Kentucky, Thompson of N. J., Toombs, Toucey, Weller, Williams, Wright—33.

Nays—Messrs. Allen, Bell, Chase, Clayton, Fish, Foote, Gillett, Hamlin, James, Seward, Sumner, Wade, Walker—13.

Upon the passage of the bill, Mr Sumner asked the yeas and nays, which the Senate refused to order.

The bill passed and the Senate adjourned until Monday. Immediate a salute of 100 guns commenced firing from Capitol Hill.

The following letter from the celebrated Dr. JAMES C. AYER gives the honest side of the Nostrum question. Since the public will use these remedies we wish for the sake of suffering humanity there were more of them like Cherry Pectoral and Cathartic Pills, which require no secrecy to make them go down.

LOWELL, 29th April, 1854.

Messrs. ——— & Co.,
New York City.

Gentlemen:—Years of the 23d inst. asking me to join in a combination to put down the Ohio Nostrum Bill, comes duly to hand. I cannot decide to your request for the following reasons:

The law requiring that the composition shall be published, of every medicine sold in the State, cannot work to the injury of anybody who deserves protection. I have published the recipes of my medicines for fifteen years, and believe this to be the honest way of making these virtues known to the community. The Medical Profession publish their discoveries to the world, for the benefit of all mankind. Why should we not? The law which does not fear will destroy your business, can injure only those who falsely pretend to discoveries and secrets which they have not. It will expose the emptiness of such pretensions, and the public will learn aside from such preparations as are found to be worthless when their composition is known. If medicines have real worth, they will be only the better appreciated and the better patronized by laying their composition open to the public, that all may judge for themselves. If they have not real merit, it is due to community, rather than to the suffering sick, to the public health and the cause of humanity, that the people should know them to avoid them. Yours respectfully,

JAMES C. AYER.

A WONDERFUL DISCOVERY has recently been made by Dr. Curtis, of this city, in the treatment of Consumption, Asthma, and all diseases of the lungs. We refer to "Dr. Curtis's Hygeian, or Healing Hygeian Vapor and Cleansing Salve." With the new method Dr. C. has received many unbiased testimonials of perfect healing, as an evidence of which, he has numerous certificates. Speaking of the treatment, a physician remarks—It is evident that inhaling a certainly soothing or agreeable vapor, the medicinal properties must come in direct contact with the whole of the lateral cavity of the lungs, and thus escape the many and varied changes produced upon them when introduced into the stomach, and subjected to the process of digestion. The Hygeian is the only and all the drugs pass through out the system.—[From the New York Dutchman of January 14th.

LAND OFFICE,

Bangor, May 19, 1854.

SEALED PROPOSALS will be received at this office till the twentieth day of June next for furnishing materials, and constructing the timber work for the Mattawamkeag Bridge.

Persons proposing to build will state the price demanded per cubic yard.

The contractor will be required to remove the old piers and abutments, and to furnish materials and construct necessary bands to secure the bridge in a proper manner while taking down the old and building the new piers and abutments, and he will also be required to place (in a suitable manner) the bridge upon the new piers and abutments as soon as they shall have been completed.

Separate proposals will also be received for furnishing materials for, and constructing the bank walls, and the abutments for small bridge. This work to be of a good kind of cribbed masonry.

More particular information may be obtained by an examination of the plans, &c., in the Land Office.

GREAT EXCITEMENT IN BOSTON—ATTEMPTED RESCUE OF THE SLAVE BURNS. The meeting which was held on Friday evening at Faneuil Hall, to consider the matter of the slave arrest, was attended by thousands of people—The street preacher Lemson first attempted to address the meeting, but was forcibly put down.

After organization, speeches, some of them of a very inflammatory nature, were made by G. W. Russell, F. W. Bird, John L. Swift, Dr. S. G. Howe, Wendell Phillips, and Theodore Parker. The people were plainly advised to rescue the prisoner from the hands of the law.

Mr. Phillips said he wanted that man set free on the streets of Boston. He was glad to hear the applause to the sentiment, that the city government is on our side. If the city police had been ordered on the Simms case as they are now, not to lift a finger in behalf of the kidnappers, under pain of instant dismissal, Thomas Simms would have been here in Boston to-day.

Mr. Parker, in closing his remarks, proposed that when the meeting adjourn it adjourn to meet in Court square to-morrow morning at 9 o'clock. A hundred voices cried out, "no, to-night," "let us take him out," "let us go now," "come on."

Wendell Phillips again took the platform and said:

Let us remember where we are, and what we are going to do. If there is a man here who has an arm and a heart ready to sacrifice anything for the freedom of an oppressed man, let him do it to-morrow. (Cries of to-night.) If I thought it could be done to-night I would go first. When there is a possibility of saving a slave from the hands of those who are called officers of the law, I am ready to trample any statute or any man under my feet to do it. He urged the audience to wait until the day time; said that he knew that the vaults of the banks in State street sympathized with them; that the whigs who had been kicked once too often, sympathized with them. He told them that it was in their power so to block up every avenue that the man could not be carried off. He urged them not to baulk the effort of to-morrow, by foolish conduct to-night giving the enemy the alarm. He seemed to have painfully carried the feeling of the audience with him, when a man at the lower end of the hall cried out—Mr. Chairman, I am just informed that a mob of negroes is in Court square, attempting to rescue Burns. I move we adjourn to Court square."

The audience immediately began rapidly to leave the hall, and most of them wended their way to Court square.

An attempt was at once made to break open the Court House doors on the east side, which, owing to the strong fastenings failed; the leading rioters then went to the west entrance, and with a heavy plank or beam, used as a battering engine, stove through the panels of the doors, and broke windows; numerous pistols were fired, and the riot became formidable. The centre watch house being in the vicinity, a party of determined watchmen dashed it and succeeded in arresting eight or ten of the leading rioters after a desperate conflict.

The prompt arrest of the ring-leaders suppressed further violence, and an increased police force were soon after on the ground and stationed at the several entrances to the Court House.

At the time the mob beat down the western door of the Court House, several men, employed as United States officers, were in the passage way, using their endeavors to prevent the ingress of the crowd, and among the number was Mr. James Batchelder, a truckman, in the employ of Col Peter Dunbar, who, almost at the instant of the forcing of the door, received a pistol shot in the abdomen. Mr. Batchelder uttered the exclamation, "I'm stabbed," and falling backwards expired almost immediately.

Col. Suttle, who claims Burns as his property, was arrested Friday on a charge of attempting to kidnap a citizen of Massachusetts, and is held under $5000 bonds.

More Slave Arrests.

Three fugitive slaves were arrested in New York at 3 o'clock Friday morning. They were examined, and delivered up to the claimants, before the arrest was generally known. They had just escaped from Baltimore—a father and two sons. When their delivery was known a good deal of excitement occurred, and a despatch was sent to Philadelphia, advising a rescue.

There was also tremendous excitement at Syracuse, upon a false rumor that a fugitive was arrested and soon to pass through there on his way to the south.

FURTHER NEWS BY THE STEAMER NORTHERN LIGHT.

Total Destruction of the City of San Salvador.

The City of San Salvador was totally destroyed by earthquake on the night of Easter Sunday; 200 lives were lost and over $4,000,000 worth of property destroyed. The shock lasted nearly a minute, laying the whole city level with the ground.

On the Friday previous, until the moment of the calamity, strong shocks of earthquakes were experienced from day to day until the night of Sunday, the 18th, when, about ten o'clock, P. M., a rolling sensation, as but of a wave of the sea, and which lasted about fifty seconds, laid the whole city in ruins. The night being calm, the dust occasioned by the falling of the houses obscured the whole atmosphere. Murder and robbery followed, the government, with the troops, having removed from the scene of destruction at an early hour on the following morning. The consequences accompanying the catastrophe are likely to be attended with very serious results to commerce, business throughout the republic. The authorities have petitioned the neighboring States for assistance in money, provisions and labor.

Arrest of our Minister at San Juan.

Just before the sailing of the Northern Light, an attempt was made to arrest the Hon. Mr. Borland, the American Minister, by the authorities of San Juan; he, however, took refuge at the American Consulate, which was attacked by a mob during the night. The next morning Mr. Borland managed to get on board the Northern Light, where a meeting was called and measures taken to protect American citizens and property on shore. A volunteer force of fifty, from the passengers, was organized under the command of Mr. Crawford Fletcher, formerly of Tennessee, who remained at San Juan and under whose protection our Consul immediately placed himself. The outrage grew out of an attempt on the part of the authorities of San Juan to arrest an American Captain of a river steamer for murder, which Mr. Borland resisted.

THE FUGITIVE SLAVE CASE.

BOSTON, May 27th, 8 P. M.

A large crowd of persons have remained about the Court House all day.

The Cadets and Boston Light Infantry are on guard in Court square, and two companies of U. States troops are quartered in the Court House.

About four o'clock a muscular negro was seized on the Court House steps for carrying concealed weapons. He knocked the officer down, drew a bowie-knife, and it took six policemen to disarm and convey him to the station house.

A despatch from Washington author ses the United States Marshal, if necessary, to call out two companies of soldiers stationed at Newport.

Burns was brought before the Commissioner at 10 o'clock this forenoon, when his counsel moved to postpone the case to 11 o'clock, Monday. The motion was argued two hours, and was granted by the Commissioner.

In the Police Court to-day, the following persons were arraigned as accessories to the murder of James Batchelder in the riot last night: A. G. Brown, Jr., Cambridge law student; John J. Roberts, Walter Finney, John Westerly, Wesley Bishop, Thomas Jackson, (five last named colored); Henry Howe, Martin Stowell, and John Thomson.

The inquest on the murder of Batchelder has adjourned to Monday.

WILSON CONVICTED.

A verdict of guilty has been rendered against Wilson for the murder of Watkins. He will be sentenced on Monday.

NEW YORK, 27th.

The Nebraskaites fired a salute of 148 guns in the Park last evening—113 for the House and 35 for the Senate. They also had a torchlight procession.

New York May 25.

By the arrival of the schooner Sullivan from Belize May 6, we learn that hides are very scarce there.

On Sunday April the city of Neutress was visited by one of the largest conflagrations ever experienced in the country, the entire city being destroyed, together with 70,000 or 80,000 hides, a large lot of deer skins, and other produce. Many lives are supposed to have been lost.

Two bottles are warranted to cure running in the ears and blotches in the hair.

Four to six bottles are warranted to cure corrupt and running ulcers.

One bottle will cure scald scurfy of the skin.

Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of ring worm.

Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the most desperate cases of rheumatism.

Three to six bottles are warranted to cure salt rheum.

Five to eight bottles will cure the very worst case of Scrofula.

A benefit is always experienced from the first bottle, and a perfect cure warranted when the proper quantity is taken.

So long looks so improbable to those who have in vain tried all the wonderful medicines of the day as that a common weed, growing upon the pastures, and along old stone walls, should cure every humor in the system, yet it is now a fixed fact.—If you have humor follow the crowd to Roxbury.

If you have humor but have no money, take a few bottles, pay some cases but not yours. He has peddled over a thousand bottles of it in the vicinity of Boston, and knows the effects of it in every case. It has already done some of the greatest cures ever done in Massachusetts. He gave it to children a year old, to aged people of sixty, and has seen many looking children, whose flesh was soft and flabby, restored to a perfect state of health by one bottle.

To those who are subject to sick headache, one bottle will always cure it. It gives great relief in church and dreamers. Some who have taken it have been costive for years, and have been regulated by it. Where the body is sound it works quite easy, but where there is any derangement of the functions of nature, it will cause very singular feelings, but you must not be alarmed—they always disappear in from five days to a week. There is never a bad result from it—on the contrary, when that feeling is gone, you will feel yourself like a new person. I heard some of the most patriotic giants complaining of it, that ever man had said to, "No change of diet ever necessary. Eat the best you can get, and enough of it.

WILBOR'S COMPOUND OF PURE COD LIVER OIL AND LIME.

THIS valuable medicine which has received the sanction of the medical faculty, by whom it is regularly prescribed, and which has been tested successfully by thousands of invalids, is one of the most remarkable preparations ever offered to the public for the cure of

CONSUMPTION, SCROFULA, COUGHS, COLDS, ASTHMA, BRONCHITIS, SPITTING OF BLOOD, AND ALL CONSULTS OF THE LUNGS.

Pure Cod Liver Oil has long been acknowledged to be the most efficacious article for the cure of Consumption and kindred diseases yet discovered, while the chemical properties of the PHOSPHATE OF LIME are also well known as medicinal as being peculiarly healing in cases where absorption has taken place on the lungs, this article has hitherto found, by the most careful tests to supply the very ingredients necessary for the formation of cells in and the complete healing of the delicate parts of the human system.

This preparation of the pure Cod Liver Oil and Lime combines the oil of its very nauseating taste which renders it so repulsive, rendering it palatable. The thorough incorporation of the Phosphate of Lime with the Oil has only been accomplished by the adoption of the most perfect rules of chemistry and a medicine has thereby been produced which is of unmistakable value to a debilitated country.

A long array of certificates might be given here to prove the efficacious character of this medicine but it is not deemed necessary. The fact that for a few years the very first introduction of the Cod Liver Oil and Lime before the public, it has been gradually adopted by the medical faculty, is sufficient proof of its unquestioned merit. Hence,

TESTIMONIALS.

The following certificate from Dr John C. Warren, of Boston is given 17 years since but will not forever.

BOSTON, Jan. 5, 1853.

Having had occasion to observe that some persons affected with hernia have suffered much from the want of a skillful working Truss, in consequence of the present status of their cases, I have taken pains to inform myself of the competency of Mr J F Foster to supply the deficiency complained of by the death of Mr Beath. After some inquiry, of observation of his work, I am now satisfied that Mr Foster is well acquainted with the manufacture of those instruments and ingenious in accommodating to the variety of cases which occur. I feel called upon to recommend him to my professional brethren, and to the public to a person so skilled to supply their wants in regard to these important articles.

JOHN C WARREN, M D.

This an inveterate rupture gives me more than a common share of pleasure in recommending to the favorable notice of such persons who are unhappily afflicted with Hernia, Mr James Frederick Foster, as a skillful and competent person in the manufacture and fitting of Trusses. We have employed him (some of us even twenty years) and therefore speak from personal knowledge of his skill. His early advantages, his long experience in the business, and the large number of his patients whom he has relieved in a variety of cases, render him, in our opinion, equal, if not superior to any manufacturer of the article. His father, Ben Quinton Foster, of Charlestown, was master of the Post-Office in that town for upwards of twenty four years during which period Mr Foster devoted himself of the opportunity, and made the application of Trusses to a great variety of cases, with great success, some of which were of a very complicated and distressing character.

It is well known to all who have occasion to wear a Truss that its great excellence is mainly in its adaptation to the body, at the same time not evading the patient. Any ordinary mechanic may make a Truss but none but a skillful practitioner can apply it in such a manner as effectually and easily relieve the complaint.

Our experience has convinced us that Mr Foster has thoroughly studied the knowledge of the profession. Dr J C Warren, and other eminent surgeons which he has shown to us, fully sustain the opinion we here express.

PEDIATED INHALATION.

A NEW METHOD.

A MOST WONDERFUL DISCOVERY has recently been made by Dr CURTIS for the cure of Asthma Consumption, Bronchitis, Coughs, Colds and all Lung Complaints, by Medicated Inhalation. Dr CURTIS'S HYGEANA or INHALING HYGEAN VAPOR and CHERRY SYRUP has accomplished the most wonderful cures of Asthma and Consumption in the city of New York and vicinity for a few months past, ever known to man. It is producing an impression on diseases of the Lungs never before witnessed by the medical profession. [See certificates in hands of Agents.]

The Inhalator worn on the breast, under the linen, we hear the least inconvenience, the heat of the body being sufficient to evaporate the fluid, supplying the lungs constantly with a healing and balmy vapor, passing into all the air cells and passages of the lungs, that cannot possibly be reached by any other medicine. Here is a case of

ASTHMA CURED.

BROOKLYN, N Y Dec 20, 1853.

For about eight years I have been severely afflicted with the Asthma for the last two years I have suffered beyond all my powers of description, months at a time I have not been able to sleep in a bed, getting what rest I could sitting in my chair. My difficulty of breathing and my sufferings were at great at times, that for hours together my friends expected each hour would be my last. During the last six years I have had the aid and attendance of some of the most celebrated physicians but have received no permanent benefit, and but little relief. I at length had the good fortune to procure Dr Curtis's Hygeana or Inhaling Hygean Vapor and Cherry Syrup. At the time I first obtained it, I was suffering under one of my most violent attacks and was in great distress almost suffocating for want of breath. In less than ten minutes from the time I applied the Inhalator to my mouth, and took a teaspoonful of the Cherry Syrup I felt relieved in a great measure from the difficulty of breathing and had a comfortable night. I have since continued it with the greatest possible benefit, and am now comparatively well. Glad only knows the amount of suffering this medicine has relieved me from. My advice to the suffering is—try it.

MARGARET EASTON

CONSUMPTION CURED.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27th 185

I came to New York at the ship I telegraph, my native place is St John, New Brunswick, where I reached this city my health was very poor; had a bad cough raised a good deal of matter, which was frequently mixed with blood, had pain in my left side and was very weak and emaciated. My friends and physicians pronounced my case Consumption and beyond the reach of medicine. I accidentally heard of Dr Curtis's Hygeana, or Inhaling Hygean Vapor and Cherry Syrup, and obtained a package which I verily believe was the means of saving my life. Soon after wearing his Inhaler I found it reflected the pressure on my lungs, and after a while the disease made its appearance upon the surface under the Inhaler. I took the Cherry Syrup as directed and continued to do so, my cough gradually growing better, until it entirely left me and I now consider myself cured. I still wear the Inhaler as the use of it is rather pleasant, and believing it strengthening and purifying to the lungs, I feel unwilling at present to dispense with it.

DR. MORSE'S

Invigorating Cordial,

—OR—

Panacea in Medicine.

Health Restored & Life Lightened by Dr. Morse's Invigorating Elixer, or Cordial.

Rare wonder! Most all sciences have been ransacked the vegetable and mineral kingdoms, in search of something that should restore the lost or decaying energies of the nervous and muscular systems, without the dreadful sequel of subsequent prostration, which all stimulants, or cordial narcotics had heretofore entailed. The desiderata has been found. It is a vegetable production brought from the marshy deserts of Arabia the Stony, by the celebrated Professor M Morse well known, as a distinguished member of the leading scientific societies of the Old world, and equally distinguished as a shipper, a chemist and a traveller. The juices of these herbs, concentrated and combined with other vegetable and mineral extracts, are now producing results heretofore unheard of, in this or any other country. At first the properties obtained by Prof MORSE IN VIGORATING ELIXIR OR CORDIAL were deemed fabulous. The public often deceived could not believe the results and sublime truths announced by the discoverer. But facts, undeniable facts, attested by witnesses of the highest character and character are now pouring in every day, leaving incredulity overthrown, by a tide of testimony which is perfectly irresistable.

The ELIXER remedies, in all cases the deplorable evils arising from a misuse or abuse of the natural constitution, which make wonderful machine call down. It does not profess every disease under the sun, but every disease or ailment of a nature to be placed on human testimony, absolute positive.

A GREAT MEDICINE FOR FEMALES.

The unprecedented effects of this great restorative in all complaints incident to females mark a new era in the annals of medicine. Thousands of sufferers have been invented—the use of invigorants is unnecessary, by resorting to be specified in the various diseases and disorders to which the delicate fair sex of mankind render peculiar. The results have therefore been unlimited. These nostrums have indeed imparted a new energy, vivacity to the nervous system, a vigorous and delicate vigor to the muscles but the flush of relief has been succeeded by a depression and prostration greater than before, and the end has too often been utterly to paralyze the recuperative power of the nerves and the total organization, and finally to destroy the unhappy patient.

EVERY WOMAN OF SENSE,

Is suffering from weakness, derangement, nervousness, minor pains in the back or any other disorder, should resort to her best or nearest friend for help, and the invigorating Cordial is that.

MARRIED PERSONS,

or others with fond hopes Cordial after they have used all kinds of—and yet in vain—to procure the desired offspring, in all cases where are to be found the happy results of the invigorating elixir and it has been so but for this extraordinary preparation. And it is equally potent for the many diseases for which it is recommended. Thousands of married persons have been made red by using it, and not in a single instance has it failed to benefit them.

PERSONS OF PALE COMPLEXION, or to whom pale health are restored by the use of a bottle of this invigorating elixir, changing the skin from a pale, yellow, sickly color, to a healthy full flushed complexion.

TO THE MISGUIDED.

These are some of the sad and melancholy effects of the early habits of youth viz, weakness of the back and limbs, pain in the head, dimness of sight, loss of muscular power, palpitation of the heart, dyspepsia, nervous irritability, derangement of the digestive functions, general debility, symptoms of consumption, &c.

Who is hardy, the fatal effects on the mind are much to be dreaded. Loss of memory, confusion of ideas, depression of spirits, aversion to society, self distrust, love of solitude, timidity, &c., are some of the evils produced. All that affected.

BEFORE CONTEMPLATING MARRIAGE, should reflect that a sound mind and body are the most necessary requisites to promote connubial happiness indeed without these the journey through life becomes a weary pilgrimage, the prospect dreary darkens the view, the mind becomes shadowed with despair and filled with the melancholy reflection that the happiness of another becomes blighted with your own.

PARENTS AND GUARDIANS

are often alarmed with respect to the causes and sources of disease in their sons and wards. How often do they ascribe the latter causes of wasting of the frame, slowly, musty cough, palpitation of the heart, indigestion, derangement of the nervous system, cough and symptoms indicating consumption when the truth is, they have been indulging in a particular, though alluring practice, destroy the both to mind and body.

CAUTION.

Dr. Morse's Invigorating Cordial has been counterfeited by some unprincipled persons.

In future all the genuine Cordial will have the proprietor's fac simile signature over the cork of each bottle, and the following words blown in the glass—

AYER'S PILLS,

A new and singularly successful remedy for the cure of all Bilious diseases—Costiveness, Indigestion, Jaundice, Dropsy, Rheumatism, Dyspepsia, Gout, Humors Nervousness Irritability Inflammation, Headache, Pains in the Breast Side Back and Limbs. Female complaints, &c. &c. Indeed very few are the diseases in which a Purgative Medicine is not more or less required and much sickness and suffering might be prevented if a mild, yet less but effectual Cathartic were more freely used. No person can feel well while a costive habit of body prevails, besides it soon generates a host of other fatal diseases, which might have been nipped by the timely and judicious use of a good purgative. This is strict true of Colds, Feverish symptoms, and Bilious derangements.
